

Lambeth Local History Forum Website Editorial Policy

- Contributions: contributions to the website may be made by any of the Forum's member organisations. Anyone else wishing to contribute should email the webmaster;
- Content: all content should be related to the local history of:
- the area which now makes up the London Borough Lambeth, or
  - any part thereof, or
  - any recognised settlement which is partly in the Borough and partly outside;
- material about other activities of member organisations not related to local history should not be posted on the website;
- Opinions: opinions expressed on the site are those of the individual contributors and do not necessarily reflect the policies of the Forum except as required by this policy document;
- Respect: the Forum opposes discrimination on grounds of race, religion or belief, age, disability, sex or sexual orientation and contributions must not contravene this policy;
- contributions must not use insulting or inflammatory language;
- Libel: contributions must not libel any person or organisation;
- Copyright: contributors must make reasonable efforts not to breach anyone else's copyright. Any inadvertent breach of copyright will be removed from the site by the Forum upon request;
- copyright of original material on the website remains with the individual contributors.
